CAST OF CHARACTERS IN CONTINENTAL CONGRESS

The martial spirit of our forefathers, their militant attitude toward anything that pertains to subversion, to monarchs across the sea, and fundamental principle of universal brotherhood that inspired the declaration of independence—these are portrayed by a company of prominent Ogden attorneys and others versed in dramatic literature forming the cast of characters in the "Continental Congress" to be staged as the crowning feature of the first day of the Harvest Festival and Fashion Show.

The stage of the Alhambra theater is set for the big event, which will take place the night of Thursday, September 9. Preparations for this event have been elaborate and exhaustive in the sense that no detail of the historical events, which marked the beginning of the American nation, which accorded the right of citizenship to all, has been omitted in the dramatic composition. This was evidenced by the few knowing persons who witnessed a rehearsal in the Alhambra theater this morning.

The men forming the cast are type suited to those who comprised the personnel of the Continental Congress, and the costumes and make-up worn by them is typical of colonial times when white powdered wig and other silk attire was, along with other attributes, considered marks of eloquence, when gallantry and other social arts were held supreme and when the fire of patriotism burned brightly, revealing to the world the spirit of a new-born nation.

Just a tiny inkling of the purpose of the composition, which is representative of the best work of Ogden composers, who delved deep into the pages of history in search of the subject matter that they might give the speeches of the Continental congressmen the proper place in the arrangement of the composition, is given in one of the opening addresses. That was described as to keep alive reverence for the nation's first statesmen, the patriotic spirit that manifested itself throughout their lives and to promote a feeling of profound respect for the men who made American citizenship as it is defined today, possible. The cast of characters is as follows:

John Hancock.—Fred G. Taylor
Chaplain.—Apostle D. O. McKay
Sergeant-at-Arms.—Chas. Layne
Sec. Charles Thompson.—Arthur Kuhn
Benjamin Franklin.—Judge Wm. H. Reeder
Richard Henry Lee.—Wm. Allison
Stephen Hopkins.—Valentine Gideon
Edward Rutledge.—Henry A. DeVine
Roger Sherman.—J. D. Murphy
Robert Morris.—Moroni Olsen
Eldredge Gerry.—Rev. J. E. Carver
Samuel Adams.—Joseph Chez
John Adams.—Joseph Howell
Thomas Jefferson.—Frank Driggs

LABOR DAY IS BEING OBSERVED IN THE CANYON

Capital joined forces with labor today to make the observance of the 1916 Labor Day a memorable one.

This was evidenced in the fact that banks were closed to business, as prescribed by federal law, while all persons, who are members of organized labor, or allied with labor organizations, either through friendship or family ties, and whose services could be dispensed with for a few hours, spent at least a part of the time in observance of the national holiday.

Many took advantage of the opportunity for a trip into the canyons and other places noted for scenic attractions, while others, who did not feel inclined to pass the time in an outing, attended to small business matters, which demanded their attention, but which were not in the line of pursuit of their regular avocations.

It was stated this morning that city and county offices would be closed to the transaction of business. Those public officials, who did not participate in the labor day celebration, were therefore afforded an opportunity to take an active part in arranging final details for the Fashion Show which will be staged in the city for three days, beginning next Thursday.

A few of the mercantile and manufacturing concerns that employ union labor proposed to close at least a part of the day to give their employees the advantage of the outing that had been arranged.

Federal buildings were also closed to the transaction of business. At the postoffice the regular holiday hours were observed, while employees and officials at the Ogden District Forest Service were given the opportunity of a "day off."

The Labor Day celebration in Ogden canyon is under the direction of the combined Ogden Labor unions. A program of sports and amusements is being carried out. The program follows:

The program of sports, which will begin at 2 p. m., is as follows:
Boys' race (not over six years).
Boys' race (not over 12 years).
Boys' race (12 to 15 years).
Girls' race (not over 12 years).
Girls' race (12 to 15 years).
Young men's race (17 to 20 years).
Young ladies' race (17 to 20 years).
Married ladies' race.
Union men's race.
Race for union men's wives.
Fat men's race.
Officials' race (officers of trade unions).
Egg race for women.
Egg race for men.
Throwing contest (for ladies).
For each event, first and second prizes will be awarded. Prizes have been donated to the committee by Ogden business firms, to be awarded immediately after the program is concluded. Prizes will also be awarded to the oldest union man and the largest family on the grounds.

The main entertainment of the evening will be a dance in the Hermitage hall, a special feature of which is to be a prize walk.

CHURCH PEOPLE ARE TO OPPOSE THE SALOONS

A petition to counteract the petition of Ogden saloon men for an extension of the closing hour from 9 to 12 o'clock to allow them to adjust their business to conform to a prohibition measure when it becomes effective, was circulated among people of Mormon churches in Ogden yesterday. It was stated several hundred signatures were obtained. The petition of the church people not only calls for a rejection of the petition of the saloon men, but asks that the city commission make 6 o'clock instead of 9 o'clock the closing hour.

It was stated this morning that the matter would be brought up before the city commission at the session tomorrow evening.

FROM DENVER.
